BWIT Charter

As the bill to enact the creation of a technical college to be known as Booker Washington Institute College of Technology (BWIT) awaits passage by the Liberian Senate in January, 2013, let us all be united in spirit and effort in speaking to influential senators to vote in favor of the bill. Though there are high expectations that the bill will be passed by the Senates, still let's keep pushing till it is passed. For copy of the approved bill, please go to www.bwittiger.org.

President Payne Inaugurated

The National President, A. Zaccheus Payne and his team of leaders were inaugurated on September 29, 2012 in Minneapolis, Minnesota, USA.

President Payne in his inaugural speech, recounted the many contributions BWI had done and is still doing through her graduates to the socio-economic development of Liberia. He reminded Liberians and guests at the program that BWI was founded to export the educational philosophy of Booker T. Washington based training the Heart, the Head and the Hands; the practical approach to education. "If Liberia ever needed such mode of education, it is now that she is in dare need of rebuilding the devastation caused by the 14-years senseless war".

He called on Liberians to look beyond BWI and BWINAANA at the bigger picture, Liberia.
